

MANAGING VS LEADING REALITY-BASED SELF-ASSESSMENT

Below are 24 questions – four for each of the six major aspects of a leader’s role. Answer each question as quickly and candidly as you are able by marking TRUE or FALSE.

---

PLANNING

- |  |      |       |
|--|------|-------|
| 1. I invest time in planning objectives and desired outcomes for projects. | True | False |
| 2. I have little time for planning ahead.                                  | True | False |
| 3. I involve others in shaping plans.                                      | True | False |
| 4. I tend to operate on a short-term or crisis-to-crisis basis.            | True | False |

GOAL-SETTING

- |  |      |       |
|--|------|-------|
| 5. I work with others to develop and achieve their goals and plans.  | True | False |
| 6. When I set goals, I tend to hand them down to employees as instructions.                                | True | False |
| 7. I make sure that goals and expectations are always written down, clear, and informative for management. | True | False |
| 8. I am more activity-/task-oriented than results-/goals-driven.   | True | False |

GIVING PERFORMANCE FEEDBACK

- |  |      |       |
|--|------|-------|
| 9. I give feedback related directly to what employees are working on regularly.                                  | True | False |
| 10. I give feedback at annual review time.   | True | False |
| 11. I provide both positive and negative feedback in a specific way, so the staff always knows where they stand. | True | False |
| 12. I occasionally give praise but am more likely to give feedback when something has gone wrong.                | True | False |

DEALING WITH PERFORMANCE PROBLEMS

- |  |      |       |
|--|------|-------|
| 13. I address issues as they arise with a solutions-oriented approach.                                 | True | False |
| 14. I often feel uncomfortable addressing performance problems and avoid it if I can.                  | True | False |
| 15. I work with employees to map out plans for improvement.  | True | False |
| 16. Seeking punitive measures is often the first action I take when dealing with performance problems. | True | False |

DELEGATING

- |  |      |       |
|--|------|-------|
| 17. I delegate as much as possible to maximize resources and improve productivity.   | True | False |
| 18. I tend to delegate little beyond simple tasks.                                   | True | False |
| 19. I delegate based on staff development needs and succession plans.                | True | False |
| 20. When I delegate a task, I expect staff to complete it with minimal help from me. | True | False |

MENTORING & STAFF DEVELOPMENT

- |   |      |       |
|---|------|-------|
| 21. I take an active interest and get involved in employee training and growth.   | True | False |
| 22. I take a learn-on-your-own, sink-or-swim approach to development.   | True | False |
| 23. I encourage staff to consider extra training and lateral moves within the organization when it might expand their capabilities long-term.                       | True | False |
| 24. I am primarily concerned with staff members’ performance in their current jobs, since these days turnover is high, and we are unlikely to keep staff long-term. | True | False |
-

SCORING:

Add up your TRUE responses for all ODD-numbered statements above. _____

Add up your TRUE responses for all EVEN-numbered statements above. _____

The odd-numbered questions are LEADERSHIP indicators, while the even-numbered questions are correlated to MANAGEMENT. Therefore, if your first score above is lower than or equal to your second score, you are definitely over-managing and under-leading. If you scored high for LEADERSHIP indicators, that’s great news. Review your answers within each of the six aspects and see if you scored higher for MANAGEMENT in one or more of them. This will show you the skills you most need to develop in order to Lead First, Manage Second.